

Stephanie Sterling
Director of Human Resources
glo Professional Brands
GPHR

Stephanie is a global human resources professional with a passion for understanding how to motivate, develop, and reward employees.

Her background includes establishing and directing a new HR function at a local company, external consulting and brokerage at a top-tier firm, internal consulting/subject matter expertise/project management at a global company based outside the US, and volunteer leadership at a widely respected national non-profit. She has built relationships with colleagues in over 40 countries in Europe, Asia, Africa, and Latin America, often collaborating cross-functionally.

Stephanie's experience includes international and U.S. employee benefits management, total rewards, leadership development, project management, clear communication to varied stakeholders, M&A due diligence, HR policy development, talent management, training, and coaching. She has earned a GPHR certification, is formally trained in global benefits management and in coaching, and speaks Spanish at an advanced level. She has also earned the Human Capital Strategist certification for talent management.